

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

© 2002 Dow Jones & Company, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

DOW JONES

FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, 2002

WSJ.com

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

FUTURES & OPTIONS / By Robert J. Hughes

Never Stop Learning

AS KIDS and collegians head back to school for a fresh start, who can blame adults for wanting to join them? Now, there are adult-education classes for the most obscure and esoteric skills. From a falconry school in Vermont to a course for budding archaeologists in Colorado, here are some seminars in higher education well off the beaten track.

Extreme Pizza

HOW TO START YOUR OWN PIZZERIA

Sept. 9

The Learning Annex

291 Geary

San Francisco

415-788-5500

www.learningannex.com

TIRED OF THE umpteenth Original Ray's? Start your own pizzeria and maybe a pizza empire. Todd Parent, the founder of Extreme Pizza, a well-known Bay Area eatery, will share his experiences. Topics include financing, choosing an optimum location, creating and building a brand and tips on customer loyalty. One assumes participants already have a great homemade recipe. The course runs from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The fee is $54.